

PUBLIC LEDGER

WEEKLY REPUBLICAN—1867.
DAILY PUBLIC LEDGER—1893.

MAYSVILLE, KY., MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1909

Price 10 Cents.

WHERE IS ONE AT?

To lose one's heart when one's in love
Must make one feel forlorn;
And then to lose one's head as well,
One's pretty much all gone.

Word was received from Fort Worth, Texas, that F. W. Hawes has bought out the "River-side" grocery and is doing a splendid business.

There is a handsome piece of work in the office of the Maysville Water Company in Court street, the handiwork of Civil Engineer Aug. Schaeffer, and as a draughtsman he is certainly at the top of the heap. Mr. Schaeffer has drawn a map of Maysville—3x6 feet—showing the Water Company's reservoir, pipe lines, hydrants, valves, etc., that is simply a gem. Drop in and see it. Secretary Suler is very proud of the map and he will take pleasure in showing it to you.

THE HECHINGER GUARANTEE
Has Become a Maysville Trade Mark
—The Reasons

The Hechinger People, by reason of their continually increasing Men's and Boy's shoe trade, is the only firm in the State that four of the best shoe manufacturers in the world confine their goods, Hanan, Walkover, Nettleton and W. L. Douglas.

They are also the only shoe merchants that warrant every pair they sell you to give reasonable satisfaction.

Only the high qualities of these makes justify the absolute guarantee this house gives its patrons.

James H. Parrish, the Owensboro banker, was given five years in the Penitentiary on the charge of knowingly receiving deposits at his Bank when it was insolvent. Parrish's attorney will take the case to the Court of Appeals.

Cartmel extracts teeth without pain. Paducah, Covington and Newport probably will unite in asking for an amendment of the charter providing for the election of five School Trustees from the city at large, instead of two from each Ward.

Warren P. Godfrey, the father of Mrs. Lewis Forman of this city, died last week at his home at Waverly Ohio.

Many of the Oldham county schools will continue, by private subscription, two or three months beyond the six months' regular term.

KICK OR BE GENTLE

PROBLEM EACH MAN MUST SETTLE FOR HIMSELF.

Mr. MacQuilltine Somewhat Puzzled Over the Proper Course to Pursue—Much in Selecting the Right Time.

"Do we," said Mr. MacQuilltine, "get more by kicking for what we want or in the long run do we get more by being patient and waiting?" "This is a question that each of us must settle for himself and it is, I suppose, largely a matter of individuality, of temperament. Some men are natural, hardy, able kickers, who kick for what they want and get it, and some of us are timid and non-aggressive, no kickers at all, and so it might seem that really this is a question not worth discussing, that will settle itself automatically in each case according to the man.

"Still there are many men not natural fighters, but who have in them a spark of fight, to whom this question of whether to fight or not must often recur. Shall I kick against this injustice or these cold plates at the boarding house or this poor pay? Shall I kick against any of the many things that may afflict us or shall I be patient and wait for this thing to right itself? This to many a man who may be gentle but who takes life hard may often be a very grave question and very hard to settle.

"People do respect us more if we don't lay down and let people walk on us, and we know that if we are content to be sat on we shall continue to be sat on; but what are we going to do about it? Are we going to kick or be patient?"

"There is much in knowing when and how to kick, for there are men who kick blunderingly and futilely, and then there are men who kick gently and kindly and yet with an evidence of reserve power and resolution behind the kick that brings respect and results.

"I am speaking now, you understand, not of the natural hardy kickers who with abundant ability to back them stride in and kick with vigor and power, getting what they want because they can make good, but of the multitude of men to whom, as I have said, whether to kick or not may be a grave question. These men must consider, and it may be that they do spend many trying days and nights in considering, whether they shall stand up and fight or let things go.

"These must have a clear cause, and they must know when to kick and how. If they succeed they take a step up, and then with broader resolution and greater strength, if they have got the stuff in them, they keep on. If they fail their case may be worse than before. It is a grave question for many people.

"As to many things that may not be purely personal we commonly leave the kicking to be done by other people; and in their kicking we may find much relief, but as to whether we ourselves shall kick or be patient, whether we shall try taking the bull by the horns and take the chance of being tossed, or sit down and wait, why, the still remains a question that each man must settle for himself."

Old Custom Under the Ban.

The custom of rewarding success or the dramatic stage with calls before the curtain has long been a thing of the past in some of the European theaters, says a Frankfurt paper, and it has caused much heartache among those footlight heroes and heroines to whom it was a joy and a delight. The ancient mark of appreciation was a recompense for many tribulations, and in the houses where the rules preclude it one great incentive to best effort is missing. At the Lessing theater in Berlin the actor now has a few sufferer because of restrictive rules as to the popular author. Formerly, when a new play was put on for the first time and well received the author would be called before the curtain between the acts, and the calls were frequently prolonged. The new rule forbids this, and the audience may cry "Author" ever so vigorously, but he dare not show himself until the final curtain has fallen.

Need for More Playgrounds.

Twelve vacant lots have been secured by a number of New York women for playgrounds in the upper West side of the city, the Riverside branch of the New York Municipal league being the petitioning party to the city aldermen. Mrs. Clarence Burns is also asking for the playground in the name of the Little Mothers' Aid society. Mrs. Burns is a well-known clubwoman. It is reported that most of the arrests among the children of New York are for playing on the streets or in forbidden places.

Praises American Woman.

Mlle. Claire Ducreux, traveler, lecturer and writer, in a talk recently before a branch of the Alliance Francaise, said that the American woman, with her type yet unformed, is one of the greatest factors in the new civilization that America is giving the world, and upon her appreciation of her opportunities as an independent factor and as a helper of man depends the strength and weakness of that civilization.

The Obvious Reasons.

Blobs—I never knew such a blase fellow as Bionas. He says life isn't worth living. Slobbs—Yes; he uses a chafing dish and has taken to cigarettes.

WILD DOGS HUNT IN PACKS.

Outlaws in North Carolina Will Attack People and Cattle—Cannot Be Exterminated.

For 30 years there have been wild dogs in a great tract of woods known as the Grimes lands, west of Raleigh, part of which recently bought by the state embraces 1,300 acres. These dogs 20 years ago attacked a herd of milk cattle and the latter had to be killed, some of the dogs having rabies.

From time to time the wild dogs have been shot, but they cannot be exterminated. On two occasions they have attacked people passing through the woods and had to be beaten off. On the last day of February, which marked the close of the hunting season, with a number of boys I was rabbit hunting in these woods. A rabbit was jumped and made a wide sweep in his run.

Most of us stood on the watch for him to "return to his bed," as the darkies say, and presently the music of the dogs bringing him back was heard in the distance. The rabbit was seen coming down a hill where the trees stood rather wide apart, and suddenly two very large dogs, mottled in color and looking remarkably like hyenas, dashed at him and rabbit and dogs went over.

At this instant a colored man came up with his gun and rushed at the dogs, which fled, leaving the rabbit kicking but bearing on the rump the deep marks of the dogs' fangs. The dogs had appeared like ghosts and they disappeared in the same manner. It was a remarkable incident. When the pack arrived the owner was holding up the rabbit. The dogs appeared to take no notice of the tracks of the wild dogs.—Raleigh Correspondent Forest and Stream.

Anonymous Letters.

The anonymous letter-writer seems to be one of the inevitable waste products of an age of discussion.

In a day when the public schools make almost universal the knowledge of reading and writing, when yellow journalism supplies the vitriolic phrase and the United States mail carries any respectably covered missive, then does the cowardly soul find rare sport in flicking judges, editors, legislators and other public men with irresponsible taunts. The president of the United States gets a basketful of anonymous letters daily. Judges who are trying cases that bulk large in the public eye find themselves the targets for dire warnings and filthy abuse. The evil is probably more widespread than the public appreciates.

There is no absolute remedy, though the post office inspectors sometimes succeed in catching offenders and effecting their punishment. The sheer cowardice of the practice makes for its increasing discredit, and this is probably the only cure.—Chicago Post.

Not Much Public Land Left.

Of the public land, some 375,000,000 acres, or one-sixth of the original territory, remain—but nearly every acre is too arid for settlement on the original plan. Of state land the amount is limited, save swamp and overflow tracts that can hardly be settled by individual effort.

Over 75,000,000 acres of wet lands might be reclaimed to form homes for 10,000,000 people, while 40,000,000 or 50,000,000 acres of arid lands might be irrigated to sustain as many more, but this cannot be done by individual or family pioneering, and must be done, if at all, either at collective cost in the public interest or by corporate enterprise for personal interest. No longer is Uncle Sam "rich enough to give us all a farm," his princely possession of a century past is already given.—American Review of Reviews.

Hard Working French Schoolboys.

French children are often on their way to school a little after seven o'clock in the morning. If they have concluded their lessons by nine o'clock in the evening it is only by dint of great application.

Young men studying for the higher professions have appointments at five o'clock in the morning in summer time; otherwise they cannot accomplish the mountain of work that lies before them. In all branches of art the labor of the tyro is immense. At the Conservatoire the strenuous life is carried to a point which provokes the astonishment even of laborious German students.

Use for 16-Inch Gun.

It is suggested that the 16-inch gun now lying unmounted at Sandy Hook be sent to the Philippines and mounted on the fortifications now under construction at Corregidor island for the defense of Manila. This gun would command the channel there, which the 12-inch gun will not do, and it can deliver a blow at a distance of 10,000 to 12,000 feet which would sink any ship afloat, racking the steel frame and armor bearing of the ship and starting a leak.

Sees Increased Armaments.

Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, is quoted from Bristol, England, as expressing the belief that President Taft in his inaugural address, pronounced the doom of the hope for the disarmament of nations. There is a universal feeling abroad in which the United States now joins, Mr. Birrell said, for increased armaments.

Two Good Mottoes.

Lieut. Gen. Baden Powell has two favorite mottoes. One is, "Don't flurry; patience wins the day," and the other, "A smile and a stick will carry a man through almost any difficulty."

BEWARE OF DISPUTE

END OF QUARREL ALWAYS HARD TO FORESEE.

King Solomon's Advice to "Leave Off Contentment Before It Is Meddled With" Worth Heeding and Remembering.

"Avoid the beginning of quarrels." No better advice could be given to a newly wedded couple. King Solomon, with all his wisdom, never spoke truer word than that "the beginning of strife is like the letting out of water; therefore leave off contentment before it is meddled with." Most quarrels, conjugal or otherwise, begin with trifles, and lo! "Behold how great a fire a little matter kindleth!" Avoid disputes. "It is the first step which counts," for which sound reason, do not take it!

An old man, who, as a criminal lawyer of many years' standing, had wide and deep acquaintance with human nature, used to tell his daughters: "Make up your minds to the fact that your husbands are but men, although they are gentlemen, and take heed how you provoke them to anger. It takes two to make a quarrel; never be one of the two, and remember that your dignity best is preserved by silence when you are provoked.

"Never forget that you take your husband for better, for worse, and if, which heaven forbid, worse comes, at least bear it like a Christian gentleman. You will find the recipe in Matthew 5, beginning at verse 39."

There is no bit of wisdom which prospective brides and grooms more profitably may take to heart than that while quarrels between lovers who are still a-courting may successfully be patched up as good, even better than new, provided always that neither of the lovers meant malice, and also that both are affectionate and forgiving of disposition, the genuine matrimonial family row rarely is followed by kisses, unless there has been heart burning which seers, and acrid bitterness of spirit which long endures under the sweet of reconciliation.

A tempest of tears and temper not often is the forerunner of clear-shining after rain. On the contrary, it by far is more likely to stir up lasting dissension and anger.

How can it be possible that love of any sort can be made more precious by disputing and wrangling, by contradiction and continual disagreeing? During the days of courtship it is possible that it may pass for playful teasing, when hearts are soft and heads even softer; but after marriage there is danger that each will be ready to assert his or her rights, and each be less willing to yield to the other.

Lovers' quarrels usually are either ebullitions of jealousy, mostly due to selfishness, or else they come from what somebody has called "the leakage of bad temper," a most undesirable quality for either husband or wife. If lovers cannot avoid quarrels before marriage there is small hope that they will be able to eschew them afterward.

Poe and Darwin Interest Berlin.

A number of interesting events in the German book and literary world have occurred during the past week. Everywhere there are evidences of the recognition by Germans of Darwin and Poe, the seventy-fifth birthday of Haackel having stirred up Wilhelm Borsche, Max Apel, Eduard David, Bruno Wille, Rudolf Penzig and P. Naumann to prepare a volume of essays on Darwin and his time (Berlin: Die Hilfe), and Hedda and Arthur Moeller-Bruck having translated Poe's works, in ten volumes (Minden: J. C. Brun's Verlag), and written a biography, in which they accept practically the French view of the author of "The Raven," and place him, with Goethe and Balzac, at the dawn of his country's art. Theodor Etzel has added an attractive volume of translations, "Edgar Allan Poe: Gedichte" (Munich: Georg Muller), which echo very faithfully the rhythm and sense of the originals.—From a Berlin Letter to the New York Times.

Mantie Rays Penetrate.

"There are X rays and N rays and there are also rays from those mantie 'hings that you put on gas burners to improve the light."

The speaker, a photographer, pointed to a batch of forged plates.

"I know my cost that there are mantie rays," said he. "For a month I stored new plates in a closet along with a mantie, and all of them got fogged. The mantie, you see, contains thorium, a radio-active substance that penetrates a cardboard plate box as easily as it penetrates glass. I didn't know that till my doctor told me so recently. My ignorance cost me over 100 plates."

Muzzling a Wolf.

The fighting wolf, that a gash in his throat might be cauterized, was muzzled.

"It's easy to muzzle a wolf if you know how," the keeper said. "You just take a good whip, and push the stock at him. He grabs it between his teeth. Then like a flash you make a noose with the lash around upper and lower jaw. And there he is, muzzled. It's a dodge I learned out west when I was cowboyin'."

A Memory.

"Has your wife a good memory?" "I should say she has. Whenever we go out to spend the evening she can always remember a dozen things I forgot to do before I left home."—Detroit Free Press.

SARCASTIC, BUT SENT MONEY.

How John Drew Replied to His Nephew's Touching Appeal for Financial Assistance.

Repeated efforts made by a seedy-looking individual a short time ago to "touch" a well-known actor, playing at one of the Broad street houses, recalled a lot of stories of how various actors have come to grief and how they appealed for assistance.

Some stories were serious, some funny, and among the latter was a yarn concerning Jack Barrymore and his uncle, John Drew. It was a good deal like adding insult to injury, but Jack got the money, anyway.

He was returning from a tour of Australia and stopped in San Francisco just in time to meet the earth-quake. Jack lost everything but his clothes, and just as soon as he could get to a place where he could write a letter he directed one to John Drew, making it rather strong.

"Dear uncle," he wrote, "I am up against it in this fair city, and anything you can send me will be greatly appreciated. I was asleep when the earthquake arrived, and was thrown clear across the room into a bathtub filled with water. The shock aroused me, and, after dodging a few falling walls, I managed to reach the street, still clad in my pajamas. When I reached the street I was met by two soldiers, who immediately put me to work clearing the debris. You can see that I am up against it, and I shall await an early reply."

When Barrymore received his uncle's reply, he found it to be both short and sweet. It ran as follows: "Dear Jack: I always knew it would take an unnatural convulsion of the earth to make you take a bath, and I was also sure that it would take the United States army to put you to work." But the letter contained a money order.—Philadelphia Times.

He Was Under Oath.

The late Prof. Rowland of Johns Hopkins university was the most eminent physicist since the days of Joseph Henry. Among his notable achievements in the realm of pure science was the calculation of the mechanical equivalent of heat and the use of gratings in spectrum analysis for which purpose he devised a machine that could cut 40,000 lines to the inch on a plate of polished metal. In the practical application of his knowledge he was noted as the inventor of the multiplex telegraph apparatus.

Some years ago, testifying in a case involving the Caracat Power Company, in answer to a question on cross-examination as to who, in his opinion, was the greatest American scientist, he replied: "I am."

After leaving the courtroom one of the lawyers ventured to criticize this answer for its effect upon the jury, whereupon Rowland exclaimed:

"Well, what else could I say? Wasn't I under oath?"

Poetic Justice.

A man whose soul has been tortured frequently by the remarks of his wife, who takes a fiendish delight in setting a price on the handsome clothes worn by other women, one day found sweet comfort in the incautious comment of a woman in a crowded car.

"Oh, yes," said the observing other woman, "the hat looks well enough, but it is cheap. It couldn't have cost a cent more than six dollars." Thereupon said the man to his wife:

"Why do you always pick out the most expensive clothes for especial notice? Why don't you look at something cheap once in a while? There are cheap things worn. There is a hat in this very car that cost only six dollars. The woman just behind us pointed it out a minute ago."

"Well," said his wife, "you are the last person on earth who ought to feel proud of it. It was me she was talking about."

Through with Chance.

They were seated on separate chairs the young woman cheerful and smiling, the young man distraught and apparently struggling under some bitter disappointment—some well-nigh crushing blow from the pile-driver of Fate.

"So you care nothing for me and positively decline my offer, eh?" he hoarsely demanded, bending forward and staring moodily at the floor.

"Yes," was the firm reply. "I am sorry for you, but you have utterly misconstrued my feelings. I can never be your wife."

"Stung again!" bitterly remarked the young man as soon as he could command his voice. "I was just foolish enough to bet Hank Perkins a week's salary that you would accept me, but I've got the throw-down, as usual, and am out 15 plunks in the bargain."

Aged British Statesman.

Lord Riron, at the age of 81, recently resigned from the British cabinet. The long span of his political life is suggested by the fact that he also sat in Palmerston's cabinet. Entering parliament in 1852, he has since filled several of the great offices, having been at the head of the war office, the India office, the admiralty, besides serving five years as Viceroy of India. And in old age he has preserved not only vigor and sagacity, but an alert hopefulness of spirit.

An Alluring Prospect.

"So you think you would like to journey in Africa?" "Yes," answered Mr. Cumrox. "I fancy it would be a sweet relief to travel in a country where there are no overworked railway ticket sellers, nor Pullman porters, nor hotel clerks, nor head waiters."

WILL WATCH HUBBY

MRS. BUNCHEAU SCADS HAS HER DOUBTS.

She Relates Some of the Happenings Incidental to Their "Butting In" to High-Class Social Functions.

"Me and Bunch had an invite to a bridge party at the Pomeroy Maltine Burgundays las' night, and though I don't care much for them funeshuns, Bunch was so set on goin' that we went—an me without the least idea what a bridge party might be like; whether a fishin' picnic or some new kind of a straw ride.

"But, say, them Burgundays has sure got a swell manshun. Must be anyway all o' 30 rooms, all lit by 'lectricity and bet by steam, and furniture an' statues an' pictures till you can't rest.

"First thing when you go in th' front door you see a marble statue of a young woman, with nothin' particular on, and one arm broke above th' elbow.

"An' I tole Bunch then and there I thought it plum disgraceful to have statues of young wimmen standing 'round 'thout no raiment, though it was a sin an' shame that th' hired girl had been so careless 'bout breakin' off th' arm.

"Bunch, who's been studyin' all about art since he's tried to butt into society, whispered that th' arm hadn't ben broke by no hired girl, but that the statue was a replicky—I think he said—of one made by some famous old feller, and th' arm was broke—likeli bein' hit by a 'spade when they dug her up hundreds o' years ago. Said she was the Shef Doover of this old statue-maker. (Bunch's also been readin' a French dict-nary, and I spose Shef Doover means somethin' he didn't want to say right out, 'cause you can't never tell what them French'll do.)

"They was a picture of another lady entitled 'Return of Spring,' but it looked t' me more like midsummer, for she didn't have a stitch more on her than th' Shef Dooverin' woman did.

"Positively they ain't a thing to this 'high-falutin' society for me, but I've just made up my mind that Bunch don't go to none o' these doin's 'thout me bein' along.

"He's pretty wise as a money getter, but I noticed las' night a woman who, for goodness' sake, was old enough to know better, sort o' gooooin' at him.

"An' you can't never tell; mebbey she might be one o' them Shef Doovers."

One Belted Earl.

The Earl of Leicester, who died recently, was known as the "first farmer of England." On the great estates which he inherited from his father were first introduced methods of scientific farming that have greatly benefited English agriculture. They include the four-course rotation in crops—turnips, barley, clover, wheat—and the live stock shows. The earl was interesting not only as a farmer, but as an example of longevity in a long-lived family. Not less than 157 years separated the birth of the father and the death of the son, and the son married his second wife 100 years after the father married his first. The father of the earl, who has just died, headed a deputation from Norfolk to urge George III to acknowledge the independence of the American colonies. He died at the age of 90, the son at the age of 87.—Youth's Companion.

"Inauguration" of Henry V.

The terrific blizzard which marred President Taft's inauguration has a parallel in English history in the stormy weather experienced at the coronation of Henry V. in 1413. Holinshed, most accurate of chroniclers, informs us: "He was crowned the ninth day of April, being Passion Sunday, which was a sore ruggle and tempestuous day, with wind, snow and sleet that men greatly marveled thereat, making diverse interpretation what the same might signifie." Hardyng also mentions this tempest in his quaint rhyming chronicle:

On Passyon Sundaye after was this King Anoynted and crowned without tary-enge, The ninth daye it was of April so With stormes fell and haylstones grete also.

Takes Pessimistic View.

Dr. J. L. Elliott, associate leader of the Ethical Culture society, is reported to have said recently that "we are getting tired of education as displayed to us by the Yale and Harvard men, Vassar and Bryn Mawr girls. They grieve on our nerves and we are beginning to think that it is money not well spent to send our children through college." With the exception of lawyers and doctors they turn out he seemed to think the college of little benefit to the man or woman in the process.

Didn't Mean It.

"A man told me yesterday that he thought you one of the smartest chaps he ever saw, but he held his hat before his face when he said it."

"What did he do that for?"

"To show me that he was talking through his hat, I guess."

Her Dear Friend.

Nan was sitting for her photograph. "What is that strange noise I hear?" she asked. "I think it's the camera, trying to sound the 'C. Q. D.' alarm," said Fan.

IN DEFENSE OF THE SWAMP.

Southern Writer Sees Little Harm in Them, But Public Opinion Is Against Him.

Out of Georgia comes defense and even praise of the swamps. Dr. Roland Harper, in a publication of the Georgia Forest association, declares that swamps are not so black nor so noxious as they are painted, the Washington Post says. He even predicts a time when swamps will be reserved as parks for the preservation of their scenic beauties, which are not yet appreciated by nature lovers. An additional reason for preservation of the swamps he finds in the great need of forestation for the protection of the sources of streams, an argument in which there is considerable merit, although most of the great swamps are found not at the sources of streams, but near the mouths of rivers.

From time immemorial swamps have been identified with malaria and other fevers and diseases. Dr. Harper thinks they have been much maligned in this respect, declaring that there can be no objection to swamps on hygienic grounds since the discovery that malaria is spread only by the agency of mosquitoes. But right here the doctor overlooks the most potent argument for the draining of the swamps, for it is only by drainage that the great breeding haunts of the mosquitoes and other disease-bearing insects can be rendered innocuous. The existence of a large swamp near any center of population is a grave menace to health and inevitably reduces the economic, industrial and social efficiency of the people in the vicinity. As the south is to-day the greatest sufferer from the blighting effects of malaria and the diseases that follow in its train, it is somewhat remarkable that a defense of these pest spots should come from the pen of an intelligent, observing southerner.

It is a matter of history that can be verified by reference to any standard textbook that malarial diseases have disappeared from Europe and the northern part of the United States in almost exact proportion to the draining of the swamps. It is a necessary step in civilization's battle with disease. The widespread aversion to and dread of swamps that refuses to recognize their aesthetic values, which Dr. Harper deprecates, is a deep-seated, popular instinct founded upon centuries of bitter warfare with swamp-borne disease.

Good Quality for Statesman.

It is said of George B. Cortelyou that he would stand on the rear of President McKinley's train when the president was touring the country and not only recognize the men of the town who had during his time come to Washington, but recall their names as well.

One time, it is said, the train stopped at a small station in the west. Cortelyou with the other members of the president's party alighted for a few minutes to limber up. A man came up to him and proceeded to introduce himself. Cortelyou interrupted him.

"I am glad to meet you, Mr. Jones. That matter about the claim is in the hands of the treasury department now, and you may expect to hear from it almost any time."

The man had not seen Cortelyou in eight months, and then for exactly five minutes.

Autos with Dog Kennels.

The dog trotting contentedly along between or just back of the rear wheels of a carriage is one of the pleasant remembrances of the time when the horse was supreme, but horse and dog were both rudely disturbed by the advent of the automobile.

Automobiles run too fast for a dog to trot along beside, and as there is not room within the automobile for anything larger than a lap dog the coach dog had to go.

One English automobile firm is now manufacturing an automobile body that opens at the back, disclosing a roomy kennel for dogs, but it is probable that although better than nothing at all this arrangement will not be completely satisfactory to either dog or masters.—Popular Mechanics.

Silencers Have Found Favor.

Hiram Percy Maxwell, Jr., the inventor, says that the United States government has made its first large purchase of the Maxim gun silencers, probably for use in the musketry schools and for testing by federal sharpshooters, who will suggest possible improvements. Spain, France and larger European powers have bought silencers through Mr. Maxwell's representative, Hart O. Berg, who is also business manager of the Wright brothers. King Alfonso of Spain has had his own Mauser fitted with a silencer since he witnessed a demonstration in France recently.

One-Finger Exercises.

The piano bowed soundlessly insistently upon one note, being tuned. It had gone on for an hour or more.

"Doesn't that annoy you?" asked her visitor.

"Not half so much," said she, "as the playing by the flat dweller down there. She plays one note, too, but it's always the wrong one."

Natural.

"She's a very natural girl."

"So?"

"Yes; whenever she's invited out to dine she never thinks of taking the smallest piece of meat in sight, but helps herself to as much as she wants at if she were at home."—Detroit Free Press.

Maysville—A Progressive City.

Maysville is the county seat of Mason county, one of the most fertile in the State of Kentucky. It is a thriving city of nearly 10,000 inhabitants and is located on the Ohio river about 65 miles East of Cincinnati.

Considered both from a geographical and topographical standpoint it has advantages that are manifold in importance, as well as attractive to the admirers and lovers of rare and scenic beauty.

The importance of Maysville as a center for the manufacturer seeking a base for his operations presents opportunities immeasurably superior to those of many other cities of her size. Her rates of taxation are low, she has unexcelled transportation facilities and she is one of the most enterprising centers of the State, offering to manufacturers wonderful inducements in the way of bonuses, etc.

The city is unrestricted by natural obstacles to the enlargement of area, as are many of the larger cities, there being abundant room for manufacturing establishments, residences and the gradual extension of a large metropolis in every direction.

Not many cities of ten thousand inhabitants enjoy the many varied and numerous metropolitan advantages that we do. We have an electric railway service that would do credit to a city thrice the size of Maysville. Our water-works capacity is ample for the needs of a much larger population, while our gas and electric light facilities are of the best. We have the very best of Public School systems, Churches of every denomination and our Banks and financial institutions are bulwarks of integrity. The city is at present contemplating spending thousands of dollars on street improvements. The streets are to be paved with brick and are to make a showing for Maysville that will be a credit to her people and their public-spiritedness.

Maysville has, no doubt, more real public spirit than half the cities in the country. The reviews of the different lines of business which follow will give our readers some idea of the magnitude of business conducted here. Nearly every representative house is found in the list, and we can conscientiously say that not one is here but what is worthy and deserving of the most extended patronage.

Merz Bros.

In reviewing the causes that have operated in making Maysville the important commercial center that she now is, and that have placed her in the proud position of a leading city, Merz Bros. can be accorded high honors. Commencing business something over eight years ago on a rather modest scale, each year has marked a step onward in the march of progress, until today Merz Bros. can lay just claim to being one of the largest dry goods stores in Northern Kentucky. They occupy three floors and basement, the dimensions being 280x40 feet, all of which is heavily stocked with everything in the dry goods, carpet and notion line.

Merz Bros. have during these years been upright, straightforward and honorable in all their business dealings and have built up a trade that is bound to remain with them as long as they are engaged in mercantile pursuits. They make a special point of bringing on the very latest in dress goods, trimmings, cloaks, suits, etc., and the people of the surrounding country have learned that by trading with Merz Bros. they are just as sure of receiving a strictly up-to-date article as though trading in Cincinnati. This firm do both a wholesale and retail business, as well as importing direct, and have an office in New York and Philadelphia, which probably enables them to buy much cheaper and receive the styles much quicker than those who are not so fortunate.

They employ twenty-five people, all of whom are accommodating and courteous to all patrons. The Messrs. Merz personally are genial, clever gentlemen, whose many years in their worthy business career have stamped them with the commanding presence which inspires one with that confidence and assurance so necessary in the establishment of the ties of friendship and patronage.

Keystone Commercial Company, Incorporated.

The head offices of this company are located in Pittsburgh, Pa., the branch here being the main buying branch. The Company are dealers in poultry, butter, eggs, game and produce and has been established about ten years, the first four of which the firm was known as the Henderson-Johnston Company. Six years ago the Keystone Commercial Company assumed control and Mr. E. L. Manchester became Manager. Since that time the volume of business has increased steadily, until now their operations exceed $300,000 yearly. This Company is the largest of its kind throughout Northern Kentucky. They have had competition from time to time, but the fact that they pay the highest prices for eggs, poultry, game, etc., enabled them to assume the lead and maintain it.

Mr. E. L. Manchester has been with the Company since its inception here and a large share of this phenomenal success has been due to his efforts, sagacity and general business ability.

Maysville Manufacturing Co.

In enumerating the varied lines of industry successfully carried on here, there is one we wish to call special attention to on account of the able manner in which it has been conducted, and which has helped so much to advance the cause of Maysville. We refer to the Maysville Manufacturing Company which was established in 1884, the first day of April having completed a quarter century of successful operation. They are manufacturers of and dealers in sash, doors, blinds, mouldings, office fixtures, store fittings, etc., and make a specialty of stair building. They also make a specialty of every description of furnishing material for interior or exterior of buildings in either hard or soft wood. The business since its inception has continued to grow and thrive and today the Company ships its product throughout the surrounding country within a radius of a hundred miles. They have furnished material for some of the best Church buildings in the State and samples of their work can be found in almost all of the new buildings erected in Mason county during the past decade. This Company is supplying the finishing material for the new Catholic Church, it being of the highest grade. Mr. L. M. Mills is the superintendent and general business manager, and it is his proud boast that he hasn't lost a day in twenty-five years. It is through Mr. Mills' fine business ability and the excellence of their product that the Company owe their success.

Ohio River Lumber Company.

A truly representative concern of Maysville, and one whose operations extend over a large territory, is that of the Ohio River Lumber Company. This company are manufacturers of stair rail and newels, also a full line of planing mill work, and are dealers in lumber, flooring, etc. The company was incorporated in March, 1898, a partnership having existed for about six months before that time. They employ from ten to twenty-five skilled workmen and their planing mill, located at Cottage and Kentucky streets, is modernly equipped throughout. The company make a specialty of stair work, the entire product being of the highest grade. They ship their goods to the largest jobbers, while their general planing mill work is sold to the largest contractors throughout the State. The officers of the company are G. Hunsicker, President, and J. R. Devine, Secretary and Treasurer, both of whom stand high in commercial circles.

The Maysville Foundry and Engineering Company.

The Company whose name heads this sketch can be truthfully styled one of the representative industries of Maysville. It was established under the name of the Maysville Foundry and Engineering Company December 18th, 1907, although it has been operated under different names as a foundry for the past 75 years. The Maysville Foundry and Engineering Company are founders, machinists and engineers and give employment to fifty-five men. The plant is modern in every detail and at the present time they are installing an entirely new equipment—new blowers, cupolas, etc. All machinery is driven by individual electric motors, and the capacity of the plant is 45,000 pounds of castings daily. The Company are making a specialty of the cast iron sectional culvert pipe, which can be had in any size ranging from 8 inches to 48 inches in diameter. This product has given the utmost satisfaction and is highly spoken of wherever used, and the sales are constantly increasing in volume. The Company expect to sell this pipe all over the United States. They enjoy the very best of shipping facilities, being located on the L. and N. and C. and O., and also ship by river. Their shipments amount to from two to three carloads each week, and each carload will have at least one casting, the weight of which is from 8,000 to 10,000 pounds.

The Company also do local repair work in the machine department, and they carry a large stock of machinists' and plumbers' supplies, such as fittings, valves, bolts, etc. The officers of the Company are E. P. Browning, President; J. W. Fitzgerald, Vice-President; S. P. Browning, Secretary, and J. K. Browning, Treasurer.

Mike Brown.

The gentleman whose name heads this sketch has been established in business since 1894 and is located at 12 and 14 East Second street. Mr. Brown is a manufacturer, jobber and retailer of harness, buggies, wagons, hardware, saddlery, etc., and his stock is the largest to be found in Maysville. At the above address he occupies two floors 150x30 feet, and he also has a warehouse of 150x72 feet, and here can be found 300 rigs of all kinds, all styles and at all prices. Mr. Brown handles the famous "Columbus," "Moyer" and "Brockway," as well as many other makes.

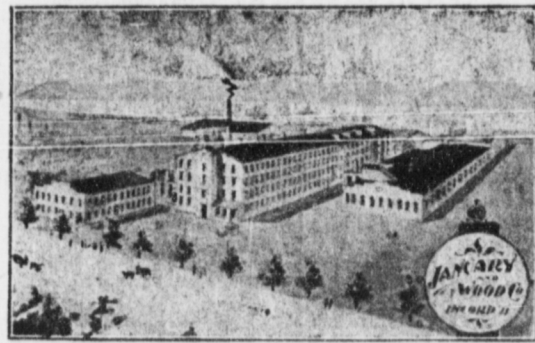

Mr. Brown is widely known among the farmers of this section, with whom he has large dealings. He is popularly known as "The Square Deal Man," and the large volume of business done by him proves the title has not been misplaced.

Maysville Coal Company.

A review of the business firms of the City of Maysville would be incomplete without mention of the Maysville Coal Company, the largest of its kind in this section. This company is owned and under the active management of Mr. G. Hunsicker, who has been established in business seven years. He is a wholesale and retail dealer in coal, salt, sand, brick, building material, etc., and does a business within 100-mile radius of Maysville. Mr. Hunsicker has two yards, the main one being located at Second and Union streets and covers 4½ acres. It is on the C. and O. Railroad, a private switch running right into the property.

Mr. Hunsicker also owns his own gasoline boat and barges which ply the Ohio. He buys in very large quantities and carries an immense stock at all times. He has the exclusive agency in this territory for the famous Alabaster Cement Plaster. Personally Mr. Hunsicker is a very genial and accommodating gentleman and he owes his success to eternal hustle.

January & Wood Company.

One of the industrial interests of this vicinity which thoroughly typifies the spirit of progress and advancement permeating the commercial life of Maysville is that of January & Wood Company, proprietors of the Maysville Cotton Mills. They are manufacturers of the Maysville Brand of carpet warp, also of twine, mop yarn, clothes line, staging, trot line, etc. This Maysville brand of carpet warp is widely known throughout the country as one of the best on the market and has been manufactured by this company for the past fifty years. The business was founded

J. C. Everett & Company.

Every locality of any magnitude affords some enterprising concern prepared to conduct the handling of grain, seed, flour, feed, etc., on a scale and in a manner that will insure first class goods, in large variety and at reasonable prices. In this connection we wish to call attention to J. C. Everett & Company, who are successors to Winter & Everett, the last named Company having been established twelve years. J. C. Everett & Company are dealers in grain, seed, flour, feed, salt and wool, and procure their goods only from the best sources of supply throughout the country, and have amassed a very large and flattering trade. The Company handle the celebrated "Town Talk" flour to the amount of 2,000 barrels yearly. They are leaders in their line in Maysville, their business premises being fitted up with every convenience to facilitate the filling of orders promptly and satisfactorily. The members of the Company are Messrs. J. C. Everett and C. F. Loyd, both of whom have won a foremost position in the business world.

Kirk & Kirk.

As an example of what push and energy, together with a determination to succeed will accomplish, we point with pride to the success of the above-named firm. Kirk & Kirk, although only established in business since January 1st, 1909, have in that short time proven to the public that they are here to stay. They are wholesale and retail dealers in buggies, wagons, wire fencing, metal and composition roofing, Oliver plows and repairs, Richmond grain drills, etc., and also have a carriage shop, where they repair wagons and carriages of all kinds. They are located at the corner of Second and Sutton streets, where they occupy a building of three floors and basement, all of which is heavily stocked with a high grade line of goods. At their warehouses are to be found a full line of all grades of buggies and anyone in the market for one would do well to call on them. The members of the firm are Messrs. M. C. Kirk and E. T. Kirk, both of whom are young men of sound business judgment and deserving of great success.

Russell Broom Factory.

A concern we wish to call special attention to on account of its rapid progress is that of the Russell Broom Factory, which was established July 6th, 1907, and from the very day of its inception has been a success. It is owned by Mr. J. Barbour Russell, who understands the business in every detail. Employment is given to five people, and this plant has never closed since its establishment, something very unusual in a concern of this kind. This is about the only broom factory in the United States that employ help by the week instead of piece work, as Mr. Russell believes in honest work and he rightly thinks better results can be obtained by this method. The plant is equipped throughout with the latest improved machinery, all of which is run by electric power, having a capacity of 150 dozen brooms a week. Mr. Russell purchased enough broom corn to last one year, buying direct from the farmer at a good price. The product, which embraces "Star," "Boss," "Bamboo Handle," (Turquoise Broom handle from Japan) "Little Miss," "Bell," "Daisy," "Barbarossa," "No Parlor" and "Warehouse," is shipped throughout Tennessee, West Virginia, Ohio and Kentucky, the volume of business increasing very rapidly, in fact orders being always one month ahead. M. C. Russell Company, of which Mr. J. Barbour Russell is the General Manager are the distributors.

M. C. Russell Company.

What is without any exception the largest wholesale grocery establishment in this part of the State is that of M. C. Russell Company. This Company have two traveling representatives who cover all the territory within a 40-mile radius of Maysville and who report a good business. The Company are wholesale grocers, liquor dealers and seedsmen, a few of their leading brands of canned goods being "Kentucky Tomatoes," which are packed in a sanitary can and have no equal, "Pride of Bloomington Corn," which has stood the test for twenty years, "Carquaine's California Canned Goods," which are conceded to be the best in California, and they are also distributors for the Fresno Home Packing Company's dried fruit, "Blue Ribbon" being among their fancy brands. They also handle the celebrated "H. & E." granulated sugar, the finest on earth. The Company occupy five floors of 57½x87 feet, it being the largest mercantile building in the city. They also occupy two warehouses and carry a very large stock of everything usually found in a first-class establishment of this kind. In the liquor department they are agents for the celebrated "Old Taylor," and also handle such well-known whiskies as "Coon Hollow," "Old Time," "Van Hook," "Limestone," "Pogue's Wheat Whisky," "Dove" and "Old Honesty," which is claimed to be the best $2 whisky in the world. This Company sells nothing less than a quart. They also handle a full line of wines and brandies of the highest grade.

The Company is under the management of J. Barbour Russell, who is assisted by his brother, Thomas M. Russell, while Mr. W. A. Marshall is the bookkeeper, and to use Mr. J. B.'s own expression, "the most faithful in the world." The Company has done its share towards the upbuilding of Maysville, while those at its head are public-spirited to a large degree.

Sphar Pressed Brick Works.

One of the largest industries of Maysville and one whose product has won fame over a large territory is that of the Sphar Pressed Brick Works. This Company has been established five years, and is incorporated under the laws of Kentucky. The officers are A. C. Sphar, President, E. A. Robinson, Vice President, H. T. Miles, Secretary and Treasurer, and F. O. Barkley, Assistant Secretary. Employment is given to fifty-five skilled men, all of whom receive the best of wages, and the pressed brick manufactured by this Company is considered one of the finest on the market. The Company ship all through the South as far as Galveston and New Orleans, as far North as Duluth and also all over the East. The plant is equipped throughout with the latest machinery, every labor saving device, or every device that can be employed in the manufacture of first class pressed brick, being found in use at the Sphar Pressed Brick Works. They have an annual capacity of 5,000,000 pressed brick, and the fact that the plant is located on the C. and O. Railroad tracks greatly facilitates shipping. We can truthfully say there is no concern in Maysville that has done more to spread her fame over a large territory or that has done more to advertise the city than has this one. The officers of the Company are all well-known business men who are always ready and willing to help along any proposition gotten out with the advancement of the city as its aim.

Joseph H. Dodson.

One of the pioneer institutions of Maysville is the business conducted by the gentleman whose name heads this sketch and who has been operating continuously and successfully since 1865. Mr. Dodson is a wholesale and retail dealer in Peacock, high grade Kanawha and Smithing coals, grain, stock feed, salt, flour, groceries, field seeds, fertilizers, etc., and also Edison Portland cement, sand, gravel, etc. He also secures storage for household goods and has 39,000 square feet of floor space for this purpose. The warehouse and main office is located at the corner of Second and Wall streets, the coal office and yard on Wall street, North of Second, and the elevator building on Front street, West of Wall. These elevators have a capacity of 30,000 bushels of coal under roof.

Mr. Dodson carries a very large stock of goods in all departments and is prepared at all times to fill any sized order. Joseph H. Dodson & Son are dealers in coal, salt, washed sand and gravel and Edison Portland Cement and is composed of Mr. Joseph H. Dodson and his son, Dr. J. Allen Dodson.

D. Hunt & Son.

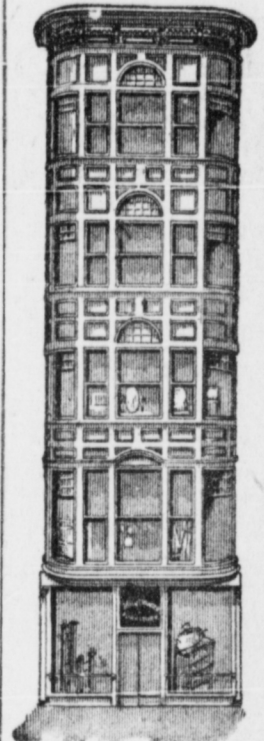

In every city we believe the dry goods business has the distinction of ranking first in position in mercantile affairs, as the goods handled are staples, supplying numberless articles of use and universally necessary. Of the houses engaged in this line of business in Maysville, we assert with confidence from the general report that none occupies a more prominent position with reference to the amount of stock carried, extent of business transacted, convenience and commodiousness of premises occupied than D. Hunt & Son, and none are superior to them in the high standard of commercial honor upon which their operations are based. The stock embraces everything in the dry goods line.

They carry a large assortment of ladies' ready-to-wear garments and the people of Maysville have learned that by trading with this firm they are always sure of receiving the latest and most up-to-date styles. Their line of trimmings, laces, etc., is very complete, while their underwear department is without doubt the largest in the city. Their show-windows always display something pretty and unique and by watching them one can keep posted on the new novelties as they come out.

The business has been established over half a century and is owned and under the active management of Mr. John M. Hunt. The name "Hunt" has been so long identified with the dry goods business that an edition of this kind would be incomplete without an extended mention of the company.

The White Palace.

Brisbois & Diener, Props.

A leading concern in its line which takes an active and highly effective hand in Maysville's commercial expansion is that of Brisbois & Diener, whose salesrooms are located at 42 West Second street. This Company succeeded John I. Winter November 15th, 1906, the business having been established about twelve years. They are dealers in furniture, pianos, sewing and talking machines, and the entire building of four floors and basement is heavily stocked with a fine line of goods. The furniture department is familiarly known as "The White Palace," and is most appropriately named, it being indeed a mercantile palace. The members of the firm are John Brisbois and A. F. Diener, both of whom are well known, and those dealing with them may rest assured of receiving courteous treatment and good goods at fair prices.

W. B. Mathews & Company.

One of the largest and most truly representative firms of Maysville is that of W. B. Mathews & Co. This business was established in 1869 and is the only one of its kind in this section that has been operated continuously since its inception, although many others have come and gone. The company are dealers in lumber, sash, doors, blinds, shingles, lath, etc., and make a specialty of tobacco hogsheds. They have a complete band mill, the capacity of which is 40,000 feet per day and equipped throughout with all modern machinery. This company are agents for the celebrated "Ruberoil Roofing" and coating. The members of the firm are W. B. Mathews and C. C. Dobyns, both of whom are men of strict integrity and rare business ability, who have always done their share toward the up-building of Maysville.

J. C. Cablish & Bro.

There is no better or more favorably known grocery house in Maysville than that of the above named firm, located at 6 East Third street. They handle a very large stock of staple and fancy groceries, vegetables, fruit, game, etc., and have gained a reputation for honest dealing, good goods and low prices, second to none. The air of general prosperity about this store is the best evidence of the store's success. The members of the firm are J. C. and E. L. Cablish, who know the business thoroughly, it having been established 10 years ago.

John C. Pecor.

One of the leading drugstores of our city, and one whose interests are thoroughly interwoven with the interests and welfare of Maysville, is the one conducted by the above named gentleman. The growth of the business since its inception 31 years ago has been constant, as Mr. Pecor at all times keeps ahead of his trade. He carries a full line of drugs, toilet articles, sundries, etc., and has a reputation for using pure drugs only and for placing the price of prescriptions as low as possible. He also carries a stock of mixed paints, etc., and when needing anything in his line you would do well to call on him.

Editor Green R. Kellar has announced his intention of retiring as School Trustee at Carlisle after twenty-one years' service.

So great has been the loss of revenue to the State in the past because of the tax system of accounting funds due to the State that Inspector and Examiner M. H. Thatcher, in a report to Governor Willson, recommends that there be established a uniform accounting system coupled with a law providing for more frequent inspections of the public offices.

Chesapeake and Ohio stock made a new high record on Wall street, New York, last Friday, having been backed by a pool which appears to have some important information to work on. C. and O. has now reached the price promised by one of the new Directors when he took office some months ago, but Wall street expects it to go still further, and a combination is hinted at with the L. and N. Railroad. Nothing official can be had on the subject, but the Hawley people admit that the C. and O. is open for bids to connect with some system.

CAUSES DEBILITY

Here Are Facts Backed Up By a Strong Guarantee

Debility is caused by catarrh. In our opinion, a person free from Catarrh was never troubled with Debility. Debility can never be cured by medicine not designed to cure catarrh. I positively guarantee to cure Catarrh, and thus cure Debility. In every case where I fail to effect a cure, I will not charge a cent for the medicine employed during the trial. Now, surely no one should hesitate to believe me or to put my claim to a practical test under such conditions. I take all the risk; no one else can lose anything by the transaction.

I make these statements and this offer because I know and have time and again proved that Rexall Muc-Tone will cure Catarrh. It is designed for that one particular purpose. It is not a cure-all prescribed to cure every disease that flesh is heir to. It is a specific. Rexall Muc-Tone is absorbed in the stomach and carried by the blood until it penetrates every part of the body, acting as an antiseptic, disinfecting, cleansing, soothing and healing agent. It rids the system of all germ and poisonous matter, purifies and enriches the blood, rebuilds injured tissues, cleanses and invigorates the mucous cells, neutralizes the acids of the body, stops mucus discharge, tones up the entire system, promotes nutrition, increases body weight, and brings about a feeling of healthfulness that is lasting.

I have Rexall Muc-Tone in two sizes. Prices 50c. and $1. I urge you to try a bottle on my guarantee. Thos. J. Chenoweth, Druggist, corner of Second and Satton streets, Maysville, Ky.

He leaves seven children, three daughters and four sons. Funeral and interment at Vaneburg tomorrow.

The New Saint Patrick's Catholic Church, Maysville, Ky.

This magnificent new temple of worship, one of the finest in the South, is a concrete monument to the faith, patience, enterprise and intelligence of Rev. Father P. M. Jones, Pastor of the Church and the esteemed head of Saint Patrick's Parish, Maysville. This new building will cost, when entirely completed, nearly $100,000, and as it has been erected under the personal direction of Father Jones, its cost has been lessened many thousands of dollars. The structure is now practically complete except the altar, which is to occupy the place of old St. Patrick's Church, shown in the rear of the above picture and which will be razed in a few weeks. The interior fittings and furnishings of the new Church are of the most beautiful and modern construction, with both gas and electric lights. The mill work was furnished by the Maysville Manufacturing Company and is as fine as ever seen in any Church. The new Saint Patrick's Church was opened yesterday, Easter, for inspection and was thronged by thousands of devout and admiring Catholics and others. It will be occupied for services in a few weeks. A further detailed description will follow later.

To have liquidated a large, pre-existing debt; to have built and paid for a handsome, modernly-equipped Parsonage; to have planned and laid out a most beautiful Cemetery, which plans, when fully executed, as is being quietly done, will make it one of the most truly beautiful hallowed spots in Kentucky; to have erected at a great expenditure one of the grandest Church edifices in the State, every dollar for the building of which is practically paid; to have done all this within the brief period of eight years is the enviable record to which both Pastor and people of St. Patrick congregation of this city may point with just pride.

Eight years ago today Father P. M. Jones assumed the Pastorate of St. Patrick Church. Through his shrewd financiering, by his truly wonderful executive ability, that great record, like the mighty phenomena of nature, has been quietly and unobtrusively achieved. Ask him how he achieved it, and, with that self-effacement which is characteristic of noble natures, his answer is: "My people did it all." Inquire of them how they accomplished this great work, their response is: "True, we made sacrifices, but we were made to feel the joy of the blessed privilege of giving. In giving, our one regret was that we could not give more. The desire, the ability to do this noble work, was always with us. It needed only the executive ability and leadership of our beloved Pastor to concentrate and to direct our forces. He has been to us what Napoleon was to the crude army of France. Without Father Jones St. Patrick's would continue in somnolent requiescence."

Fittingly commemorative of the eighth anniversary of the advent of their esteemed Pastor, Father Jones, to the Maysville Parish, the removal from the old to the beautiful new Church edifice begins today. This may consume several weeks for its accomplishment, but just as soon as the removal is completed, the sacred rites will be abandoned in the old to be resumed in the new building. Within a short time the ancient structure, which for fifty years has been the place of worship for the congregation, will be torn down to make place for the completion of the new building.

The congregation of St. Patrick, both Priest and people, may justly feel proud of its work of the past eight years along educational, moral and charitable lines. THE LEDGER joins in the universal wish that the proven wonderful efficacy in its noble aims may continue and increase.

Mr. Ray Dora held the lucky ticket calling for the $10 given away Saturday night at the Opera-house.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt. No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 30 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

Maysville Street Railroad and Transfer Company.

A review of this character would be incomplete without mention of an institution that has, perhaps done more toward making Maysville the up-to-date metropolitan city she now is, than any other we can instance. We refer to the Maysville Street Railroad and Transfer Company. This company operates four miles of track extending from the Western limits of the city to the brick yards in the East End. Cars are run on a fifteen-minute schedule and the best possible service is given. During the summer months the company run open cars, the seating capacity of which is fifty passengers; while the closed cars used in the winter can accommodate thirty people. The rolling stock is the best, the entire equipment being modern in every way. Each summer the company open up Beechwood Park, and it is here that the people of Maysville derive much pleasure and recreation. The Park is provided with a casino, merry-go-round, slide, etc., and also a refreshment booth. The officers of the company are A. M. J. Cochran, President, and Robert A. Cochran, Secretary and Treasurer. That the people of Maysville appreciate the efforts of this company to give them satisfactory service is evident. The company has done much for Maysville and the officers deserve great credit.

The Navarre Cafe

C. E. Martin, Prop.

Located at 43 West Second street is the Navarre Cafe, of which Mr. C. E. Martin is the proprietor, and it is here, amid pleasant surroundings, one is enabled to spend a pleasant hour or two in the enjoyment of playing billiards, pool, or bowling. Mr. Martin runs the finest establishment of its kind in this section and caters only to the best class of trade. Entering the store, on the right is the lunch counter, where one can obtain sandwiches of all kinds, cake, pies, tea, coffee, etc., as well as other edibles, and which is presided over by competent people. On the right is the cigar case and the news-stand, wherein can be found a complete line of the latest books and magazines. Mr. Martin has recently added this line of books and magazines, as well as fruit and confections to his stock and the entire department is in charge of Mr. Pierce Redmond, who is very well known, and numbers among his friends and acquaintances the best people of Maysville. The billiard and pool parlor is finely furnished and contains five tables of the best manufacture. On the second floor is the bowling alleys, also up-to-date in every respect. Mr. Martin invites the public to call and inspect the new department. Personally he is a gentleman of strict integrity and is well liked by his large circle of friends.

Farmers and Traders Bank.

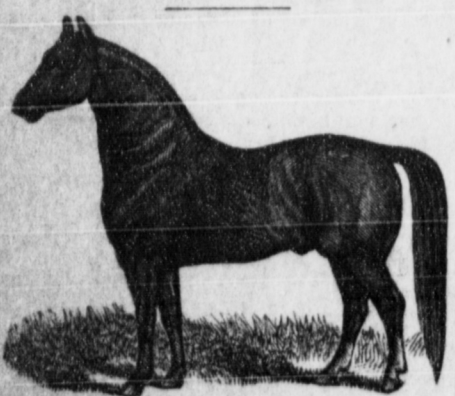

This solid financial institution was established in August, 1906, but today there is no more popular or responsible banking house in the county of Mason. Its assets are nearing the $250,000 mark, and it is easy to see that it is to be recognized as one of the leading Banks of the State. Its officers and Directors are among this county's prominent farmers and business men, and while it does a general banking business, as its name indicates, it is especially a clearing house for the farmer and trader.

The Farmer's and Trader's Bank is officered as follows: President, J. J. Perrine; Vice-President, W. R. Newell; Second Vice-President, T. L. Holtz; Cashier, Charles B. Pearce; Secretary, John E. Boudin; Bookkeeper, James F. Walton.

At the close of business December 31st, 1908, the Farmers' and Traders' had $129,247.25 in individual deposits. This Bank is well equipped to transact an extensive trade in every department, while the popular Cashier, Mr. Charles B. Pearce, who has been with the Bank since it was chartered, is one of the best known Cashiers in the State and has had an experience second to none as a successful financier.

The Farmers' and Traders' Bank declared a 3% dividend January 4th, 1909, and it is gratifying to note that its growth is steady and sure, and the solid yeomanry behind it guarantees the full confidence of the banking public. Its eligible situation in the old "Red Corner" Building, Southwest corner Second and Market streets. This is one of the best locations in Maysville, central, commodious and known to the trading public.

Mose Daulton & Bro.

One of the best equipped livery barns in this city is that of Mose Daulton & Bro. This barn is not only large and airy but is fitted up with every convenience necessary to facilitate prompt and quick service. Mr. Henry Daulton is the Manager and is assisted by Mr. W. H. Yancey, both old experienced livery men and understand fully the wants of their patrons, supplying them, regardless of whatever the cost might be. Their rigs are all up-to-date, and they have as fine a stock of horses as can be found in the county.

Maysville Brick Company.

The progress of Maysville in all sorts and descriptions of business enterprises is only such as might be reasonably expected in a city which so largely and so prominently manifests all the elements and characteristics of an enlightened and advanced community. A concern that adds in an important degree to the push and enterprise of our city is that of the Maysville Brick Company. This Company was established in 1894 and has continued to grow and expand, from year to year ever increasing the result of their operations until today they employ fifty experienced men and ship their product throughout Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana. They are manufacturers of a special quality of building, tunnel and sewer brick, and turn out 40,000 daily. The brick manufactured by this Company has gained a high reputation wherever used and has made Maysville famous. The plant is located on the C. and O. Railroad and the Company load cars right on their own property. The Maysville Brick Company is incorporated with A. C. Sphar, President, who is also President of the Sphar Pressed Brick Works, and William H. Hall, Secretary and Treasurer. Throughout its career this company has been noted for its unusual enterprise, broad liberality, enlightened policy and honorable methods, and its great success has been largely due to those excellent cardinal principals.

The Farmers' Repair Shop.

Mr. William C. McMillan is the proprietor of the above-named shop, which is located at the corner of Second and Lee streets. He has recently enlarged his blacksmith and carriage painting shop and is now prepared to do all kinds of horsehoeing, carriage, buggy and wagon repairing and painting. His prices are as low as is consistent with high-grade work, all work being guaranteed to be of the best. He makes a specialty of painting and rubber tiring, and a trial order will be appreciated by him. His phone number is 505, a call over which will elicit a prompt and courteous reply.

The F. H. Traxel Company.

A business place that excels in the endurance of its furnishings, in taste of arrangement and in inviting appearance is that of the above named company. They carry a full line of candies manufactured by themselves, serve icecream soda, etc. They are bakers also and manufacturers of icecream, making a specialty of supplying parties, etc., with cake, candy, cream and fancy ices. Mr. W. L. Traxel the proprietor has built up a large business strictly through fine goods at the right price.

M. J. Donovan.

The above named gentleman is one of the leading grocers of this city and conducts two of the best stocked stores in Maysville. One is located at 151 East Third street, just across the street from the L. and N. Depot, the other which was recently opened being at Second and Limestone streets. He is a dealer in staple and fancy groceries, green and dried fruit, poultry, butter, eggs, etc., and at the former address runs in connection a first class bar carrying a fine stock of whiskies, brandies, etc. Mr. Donovan has the distinction of having been born and raised here and was for eight years Chief of Police, during which time he did some fine work along these lines.

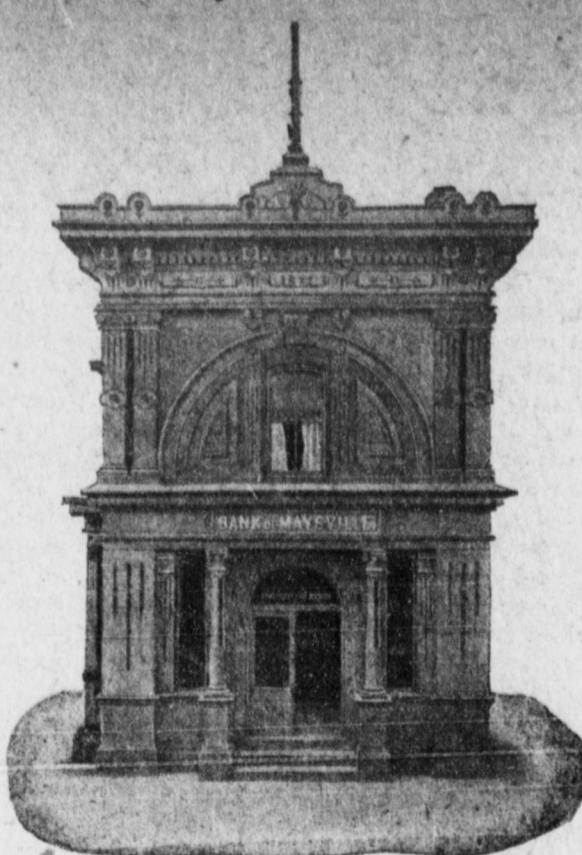

J. T. Parker.

A leading livery, sale and boarding stable of this city is the one conducted by J. T. Parker located on Sutton street, near Second. Mr. Parker has been in the livery business continuously for twenty-seven years and from the very start has been successful. He keeps only first class rigs, making a specialty of fancy turnouts and transient trade. Horses are also bought and sold, and he conducts a boarding stable having a large number of horses under his care. Mr. Parker's stable is a model of the present day barn. It is a three story building all fitted up with every convenience known to the livery business of today, always kept in the finest and cleanest condition. The ladies waiting room is greatly appreciated by the woman. Mr. Parker makes it a point to be courteous to all patrons and by giving them just as good as can be had in the livery business, and at reasonable rates, he has built up a very satisfactory and lucrative trade.

Dan Cohen.

Located at 35 West Second street is Dan Cohen's Great Western Shoe Store, which has been established in Maysville seven years. This store is under the direct management of Mr. W. H. Means, a gentleman of many years experience in the shoe business and one who understands it in every detail. Dan Cohen is a wholesale and retail dealer in boots and shoes, conducting an immense wholesale house in Cincinnati and operating retail stores in Cincinnati, Springfield and Hamilton, O., Louisville, Covington, Paris and Maysville, Ky., as well as other cities. He has a representative at the Boston markets and buys in such large quantities that he is thus enabled to give his patrons the benefit of better shoes for less money. The stock carried here is a very large one and is well assorted. Here can be found a complete line of ladies', men's and children's footwear in all the latest spring styles. One shoe to which we would call particular attention is W. H. Means' "Dry Feet" for farmers' use. Each pair is guaranteed and is all the name implies. You could not do better than call on Mr. Means for your new spring shoes.

The Bank of Maysville.

This Bank's standing is on a par with the leading banking institutions of this country. As to the market value of its stock, and its dividends, it is classed as the most successfully conducted monetary concern in the State of Kentucky. None of its stock is offered for sale and its profit are the most gratifying of any dividend-paying company in this county. "The Bank of Maysville" is a synonym for safe investment. Conservative in management, its immense annual volume of clearings is evidence of its growth and success, and it now ranks with the largest Banks in the Middle West. It was organized and established in 1871 by James Barbour, A. M. January, Robert A. Cochran and J. Foster Barbour.

The late A. M. January was President of the Maysville Branch Bank of Kentucky, and President of the Bank of Maysville from its organization until the time of his death. Its resources are rapidly nearing the million dollar mark. It is especially a Maysville Bank and is generally the fiscal agent for city and school bonds. The present officers of the Bank, James Foster Barbour, the President, and Rudolph K. Hoeflich, the Cashier, have been connected with the Bank of Maysville and continuously in its service since its organization. Judge A. M. J. Cochran succeeded his grandfather, A. M. January, in the Directory, and was made Vice-President to succeed his father, Robert A. Cochran, at the date of Mr. Cochran's death in 1896. Its officers are as follows: J. F. Barbour, President, A. M. J. Cochran, Vice-President, R. K. Hoeflich, Cashier, George T. Barbour, Assistant Cashier, James Childs, Clerk, Vary A. Barbour, Stenographer, Charles F. Wright, Clerk. Directors: J. F. Barbour, R. K. Hoeflich, A. M. J. Cochran, John Barbour, R. A. Cochran.

Farmers' Boarding House.

Mr. E. S. Montgomery is the proprietor of the Farmers' Boarding House, located at 127 West Second street, just opposite the Opera-house, and it is no vain boast to say it is the finest in the city. Here can be found the long-felt want—a boarding house to suit the farmer, and that this one does is proven by its great many patrons. The house is newly furnished and clean throughout, and the meals are just the same as though prepared at home. Lodging is 25 cents, as are the meals, and we would suggest your trying the Farmers' Boarding House and be convinced.

Murray & Thomas.

The above named firm are manufacturers of and dealers in granite and marble monuments. They make a specialty of original designs and do work throughout Kentucky, West Virginia and Ohio. They cater for good work, all of it being guaranteed to be turned out the very best. All the territory is covered by the members of the firm, and as they employ no agents but sell direct, thereby saving the middleman's profit, their patrons are thus given the benefit. Their plant is well equipped with the latest labor-saving machinery, using compressed air and electrical devices and they solicit an opportunity of showing designs and quoting prices. They are located at 108 and 110 West Second street, where they invite an inspection of their work, or where all inquiries should be sent. Drop them a postal.

W. T. Cummins.

In compiling the various industries and mercantile establishments of Maysville, the retail grocery trade assumes a decided importance. Among those the above named gentleman occupies a conspicuous position, conducting as he does an up-to-date grocery store, in every sense of the word. Mr. Cummins has just moved into his new store in Neptune Hall, from his former location across the street from the present premises. The store has been entirely remodeled for the carrying on of a first class trade, and is stocked with a fine line of staple and fancy groceries, flour, teas, coffees, country produce and green vegetables. Mr. Cummins will be pleased to have all his friends and patrons call and inspect the new store, and convince them how well he is equipped to carry on a large business. His aim is to please and one is always assured of prompt attention, and the finest goods at the fairest price. We take pleasure in recommending this store to any who have not had the opportunity of visiting it.

The Hendrickson Paint Company

In the past few years this city has advanced in every way with marvelous rapid strides and many fine buildings show to what extent Maysville has grown among her metropolitan sister cities of Kentucky. One of the foremost firms that has contributed largely to the material growth and prosperity of the city is the Hendrickson Paint Company, who have been established two years. This Company are manufacturers of and dealers in pure white lead, putty, colors and window glass, paints, oils, varnishes, painters' supplies, brushes, etc., and a complete line of wallpapers. The business is wholesale and retail in nature, shipping throughout Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio and Indiana in the former department. This Company are manufacturers of the well-known brand of Lion Ready Mixed Paint, a product that is conceded to be one of the finest on the market. They are located at 204-206 Sutton street, where they occupy a three-story-and-basement building, the show-rooms being the finest in the city. Mr. F. L. Hendrickson is the Secretary and General Manager.

E. A. Robinson & Co.

The cigar manufacturing industry is probably one of the largest in the world. Millions of dollars are circulated every year and it gives employment to thousands of people. Maysville, like all metropolitan cities, has her share, the most important being that of E. A. Robinson & Co. This Company manufactures 2,000,000 cigars annually, which are shipped over a large territory. They are the makers of the well-known brands of "Limestone," "La Constellation," "La Cindia" and "La Artamus" in the 10-cent goods, and the popular "Honey Bee," "Zenith," "Kuyto" and "Cocheo," 5-cent cigars. The factory is a model one, employment being given to 50 people. E. A. Robinson & Co. was established in 1875 and incorporated in 1902, the officers being: E. A. Robinson, President; W. N. Stockton, Vice-President; J. D. Dye, Secretary and Treasurer, and J. M. Shepard, General Manager, all of whom are in the front rank of Maysville's progressive business men.

Myall & Calvert.

One of the best appointed livery, feed and sale stables in Mason county is that conducted by Myall & Calvert and located at 110-112 West Third street. These stables are well supplied with fine buggies, carriages, hacks, horses and turnouts of every description and particular attention is given to boarding horses. They keep on hand twenty head of horses for livery hire, and also a good many saddle horses. The barn is strictly up-to-date in all details, the ladies' waiting-room being a feature not to be overlooked. They are also undertakers and embalmers, having their own hearse, carriages, etc., and carry a full line of robes, shrouds, etc. The members of the firm are Eneas Myall and C. T. Calvert, who succeeded Dickson & Myall October 6th, 1908. Anyone wishing anything in this line would do well to call here and get full value for the money spent and the best of accommodations. They are open day and night, the phone number 14.

The Art Shop.

The above named establishment is owned and conducted by Mr. W. D. Oldham, and had its inception in November, 1908. Here can be found a complete stock of embroidery materials, stamped linens, pictures, etc., and in fact everything usually found in a store of this kind. A specialty is made of stamping and at the present time they are showing a great many new designs for braided suits and coats. The stock of pictures carried are indeed beautiful, especially so the hand painted pastels. Mr. Oldham understands the business thoroughly, having been with M. J. Cumming of Cincinnati four years. He is located at 137 West Second street, and would be pleased to have you call.

Captain C. M. Phister.

A review of Maysville would be incomplete without a mention of C. M. Phister, a gentleman who has lived here all his life and been identified with navigation since his boyhood. He controls what is familiarly known as Upper Landing and owns and operates the steamer Laurence and the gasoline pleasure and business boat Florinel. Mr. Phister has been in charge of this landing twenty-five years and has been owner of the ferry eighteen years. The Laurence is named for his son and is conceded to be the finest and most substantial ferry on the Upper Ohio. Mr. Phister is a gentleman of great business ability and the satisfactory condition which prevail at the docks are due to his management and principally to the fact that he knows exactly what is due to patrons. He is steamboat and transfer agent and has full authority to make freight and passenger rates, etc., and has been elected Wharfmaster here for twenty-five years. He controls the business of the following companies here at Maysville: The Cincinnati, Pomeroy and Charleston Packet Company and the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Line. Among other fine boats the former Company operate is the steamer Courier, which runs daily between Maysville and Cincinnati. The Captain of this boat is James R. Martin and Clerk Claude Beagle, assisted by the veterans, David W. Crumbaugh and Harry G. Giesting of Newport, Ky. The boats of the Cincinnati, Pomeroy and Charleston Packet Company are familiarly known as the Green Line. There is the Greenland, the only sidewheel steamer above Cincinnati, which runs between Pomeroy and Cincinnati, the steamer Tacoma, to Cincinnati, Pomeroy and Charleston, steamer Greenwood, between Cincinnati, Pomeroy and Charleston, the Pittsburgh and Cincinnati Packet Line's elegant steamers Queen City and Virginia, and the independent steamer and packet Ohio, which plys between Cincinnati and Pittsburgh.

J. A. Simpson.

The above named gentleman is an optician, in fact the only one in Mason county, and has his elegant suite of offices in the First National Bank Building. Mr. Simpson is thoroughly up-to-date in all his methods, and has the reputation of ranking among the finest opticians in the country. His office is equipped with modern instruments, and he has every facility for giving the utmost satisfaction. He is prepared to treat any or all cases, and would suggest your calling on him and have your eyes examined.

D. Hechinger & Co.

We do not believe there is a single name connected with Kentucky's clothing business as familiar to the ears of the thousands as that of "Hechinger." It requires but little space to tell you of "Maysville's Home Store." Mr. D. Hechinger, the senior partner of D. Hechinger & Co., has been identified with Maysville's clothing business for nearly half a century. During these years many in the same business have come and gone. Today D. Hechinger & Co. are doing a greater volume of business than ever before. It is a veritable fact that one-half of the goods the house sells are sold to the grandchildren of its first patrons way back in the early 60's. Why this unwavering allegiance to the old house? Easily explained. The firm from its infancy has kept pace with the constantly improving methods of business. "No catch-penny advertisements." They sell what they advertise and advertise what they sell. They only buy the best of merchandise; hence, sell only the best. Being closely identified with the best manufacturers of clothing, hats, shirts and all kind of men's furnishings, the house is in a position to supply its patrons with the newest, snappiest and most stylish goods that the markets produce. In late years the firm added men's and boys' shoes to their line, and though but a few years selling shoes, the brands they handle, namely, Hagan & Son, W. L. Douglas, Nettleton and Walkover, have gained for them the almost entire trade of those that want good shoes.

G. W. McDaniel & Co.

Among the most important of the business interests of a city is the handling of fuel to meet the needs of the homes and industries of that city and surroundings. One of the leading firms engaged in this line of business in Maysville is that of G. W. McDaniel & Co., wholesale and retail dealers in coal, salt, cement, lime, gravel. This Company have recently purchased L. T. Gaebke's Co's coal elevators, which they will use for unloading purposes. These elevators are finely equipped and have a capacity of 150,000 bushels. They have on hand an immense amount of coal, their leading grades being Plymouth, Peacock and Charter Oak, and are enabled at all times to respond to the demands of dealers and consumers for the best quality of bituminous and anthracite coal. The members of the firm are Messrs. G. W. McDaniel and George Mitchell, both of whom are too well known to need any personal mention here.

Langefels & Co.

The above-named Company is located at No. 15 East Second street and are the largest plumbers in the city. They are steam and hot water engineers and do the finest kind of sanitary plumbing, giving employment to expert help only. They carry in stock a complete line of plumbing and heating supplies, bath and toilet room sets, as well as pipe and fittings. All work executed by them is guaranteed to be the best and their prices are right.

The Racket.

L. H. Young & Company are proprietors of the above named store, which is located at 40 West Second street. Here can be found a large and complete stock of fancy china, enameled ware, tinware, cut glass, fine silverware, paints, varnishes, etc. The store is very neat in appearance and the stock is displayed to good advantage. Everyone is accorded courteous treatment, and they have by honorable methods and fair dealings built up a large business.

The St. Charles Hotel.

One of the best $1.50 and $2 a day hotels in the State is the New St. Charles, located here in Maysville and conducted by Mrs. M. W. Coulter. The house is finely equipped, containing 25 rooms all well furnished and kept clean at all times. The hotel is steam-heated throughout and has all the modern conveniences. The table cannot be surpassed, while the service is all that could be asked for by the most exacting.

Robert L. Hoeflich.

One of the leading drygoods stores of Maysville, and one to which we would call special attention, is that conducted by Mr. Robert L. Hoeflich, located at 211 and 213 Market street. Here can be found everything in carpets, drygoods, notions, etc., in large quantities and of the latest style. It is no trouble to show goods and all are accorded most courteous treatment. Mr. Hoeflich has the interest of Maysville at heart and is always among the first to help along any proposition with the city's advancement as its aim.

The office of Mayor of the City of Maysville is one of the most honorable and responsible civic-political positions within the gift of the voters and in aspiring to this important place, Mr. Thomas M. Russell feels that his claims are entitled to a successful consideration. He has a good record as a member of the Maysville City Council and is one of the leading young business men of our city; Manager of the Washington Theater and Secretary of the Mason County Building Association. Mr. Russell is a son of the late M. C. Russell, and a brother of Mr. J. Barbour Russell and a member of the firm of M. C. Russell Company, one of the leading mercantile houses of the State. He asks your support for Mayor and promises to discharge the duties of the office with honor and assiduity.

The company is incorporated under the laws of Kentucky, and the business is conducted upon the broadest plane, and those dealing with them may rest assured that they will receive the best goods at the fairest prices, and be accorded courteous treatment.

The only exclusive insurance agency in this city is the one conducted by W. Holton Key, who for seven years has devoted his whole time to the study of insurance. He has been most successful owing to the fact that he has made insurance a business and a study, and today can lay claim to the largest clientele in Ma. ss. Mr. Key is prepared to give the very best service whether in regard to insuring property or paying claims. He also handles all kinds of Real Estate both city and farm property. Mr. Key's success has been due to the fact of giving the insured the lowest rates, good insurance, and in case of loss, giving them speedy and satisfactory settlements. Mr. Key handles fire, life, accident, health and liability insurance, and among a number of other good companies represents the Travelers Insurance Company, which is the most satisfactory Company to do business with along casualty and accident lines, in the world, and this agency is in a position to give the best of service, as his brother, Henry W. Key, has charge of the life and accident departments of this Company.

Mr. James H. Key, father of W. Holton, is a candidate for Circuit Clerk at the election to be held May 11th. Mr. Key has been connected with the Farmers' Mutual Insurance Company for twenty-five years, as President and Secretary. This company has been the most successful organization in Nassau county, having been the cause of saving the farmers $50,000 yearly.

There are many of us who remember the remarkable race Mr. Parker made for County Clerk, twenty years ago, losing by a narrow margin in the Democratic Primary, but submitting gracefully to the result and giving loyal support to his successful opponent, T. M. Pearson. Mr. Parker is a sterling Democrat, but his Republican friends can ever forgive him for that political indiscretion. He is a member of one of the oldest of the county's Democratic families and served for years as a Deputy in the County Clerk's office. That he will make a popular and capable public official no one will deny. Mr. Parker is one of the leading Equity men of Mason County, and as a farmer and tobacco grower he has stood with the tobacco growers in the dark hours of their struggle against the Trust. He now feels that he is entitled to some consideration from his party and he therefore offers himself again as a Democratic candidate for County Clerk and most respectfully and earnestly appeals to his friends and the general public to give him their support at the coming Primary. If elected he promises to give his official duties the strictest and most devoted personal attention. When you cast your vote in the Primary remember Mr. Parker's claims, his past record and that he will honor the office to which he aspires.

A city may be bonded by the votes of a few officials. The imposed obligations must be met by the sweat of the citizen's brow.—Albany Citizen.

Water Rates Raised.

According to the Milwaukee Wisconsin, the city of Madison has applied to the state commission for permission to increase its charges for water. This is in line with the action of other cities which have operated waterworks for a period long enough to show that even a city cannot permanently afford to sell below cost.

A Big Burden.

According to the Milwaukee Wisconsin, the municipal water and light plant of Fort Atkinson finds itself confronted with a loss estimated at from $5,000 to $6,000.

CONSTIPATION

"For over nine years I suffered with chronic constipation and during this time I had to take an injection of warm water once every 24 hours before I could have an action on my bowels. Happily I tried Cascarets, and today I am a well man. During the nine years before I used Cascarets, I suffered untold misery with internal piles. Thanks to you I am free from all that this morning. You can use this in behalf of suffering humanity."

A HELPING HAND.

Is Gladly Extended By a Maysville Citizen.

There are many enthusiastic citizens in Maysville prepared to tell their experience for the public good. Testimony from such a source is the best of evidence, and will prove a "helping hand" to scores of readers. Read the following statement:

Mrs. John E. Burns of Maysville, Ky., says: "I value Doan's Kidney Pills just as highly today as when I gave a statement in their favor some years ago. I was subject to frequent attacks of kidney trouble and at times the pain in my back was so acute that I was confined to my bed for days. The quick and decided relief I obtained from Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at J. J. Wood & Son's Drugstore, was very gratifying, and during the years which have since elapsed, I have had no serious return of kidney trouble. On some occasions, I have felt a slight backache, but a few doses of this valuable remedy have never failed to ward off any serious attack."
